

Betsy Judge is the owner and publisher of The Island Reporter. She is a retired Marine Corps lieutenant colonel with more than 25 years experience in public affairs. As a member of the Tierra Verde Community Association's Long Range Planning Committee she started writing for TIR in 2008 keeping residents informed about St. Petersburg's attempt to annex a portion of Tierra Verde and other island issues. She purchased the paper in 2010 and published her first issue that March. She has worked steadily to improve the content and quality of the paper for her readers increasing the total number of pages from 20 to 24 pages and color pages from eight to 16. She also increased the circulation by more than a third. The paper is published monthly and mailed directly to approximately 20,000 residents in more than a dozen South Gulf Beaches communities. Betsy is married to Joseph Judge and is a member of the Tampa Bay Beaches Chamber of Commerce and the Marine Corps Combat Correspondents Association.